Syspro Product Portfolio Lifecycle

This article covers everything you need to know about the lifecycle of Syspro's product portfolio.

Syspro regularly invests in its product portfolio, replacing older products with modern alternatives built for long-term support and continuous innovation. Recommended alternatives include Syspro products and approved solutions on the Syspro Marketplace. This page lists every affected product, its key dates, and the recommended path forward.

Milestones

Every product follows the same four-milestone lifecycle described below:

End of sale

- No new licences are available. Existing licences remain valid and fully supported.

End of maintenance

- Security and compliance patches continue.
- New features and enhancements are no longer developed.

End of support

- Syspro no longer accepts support requests for this product.

End of life

- The product is fully retired. All customers should have migrated to a supported alternative.

Every product listed on this page remains fully supported until its end-of-support date. No immediate action is required, but early migration planning gives you a smoother transition and more flexibility on timing.
